Programme for intensive training 2.000 in Desuggestive Pedagogy

Communication on the level of potential capacities of brain/mind

According to the theory of Suggestology, both the process of desuggestion and the process of suggestion occur in a suggestopedic environment. In the process of desuggestion, a spontaneous liberation from the old fixed norms takes place, while the process of suggestion influences the increasing use of the reserve capabilities (unused capacities) of the brain and psyche. In the newest development of Suggestopedy, the approach puts more emphasis on the processes of desuggestion. This new direction is reflected in the new name for the method – „The Desuggestopedy: Potential Capacities Communicative Methods“ and is already included in our courses for training teachers and other specialists.

It is, therefore, a pleasure to inform you of Dr. G. Lozanov's teacher-training courses and seminars (see the programme!).

A certificate is issued only after the completion of the Second Level (Stage C) of training.

Teachers, certified and personally trained by us, have the right to free consultations for the period of three years. The teacher trainers have that right life-long.
